Defining workflows or printers that use a color mapping table

You can specify the color mapping table used to print jobs at the job level or at the printer level.

- To specify the color mapping table for an individual job, set the Color mapping table job property to the file name of the color mapping table.
- To specify the color mapping table that a printer uses for jobs that do not have a value for the Color mapping table job property, set the Color mapping table printer property to the file name of the color mapping table.
