Overview

Usage scenarios for processing documents

If you have the PDF Document Support or AFP Support feature, this topic provides links to usage scenarios. These scenarios show how document processing is used to improve your production processes and to offer new services to clients.

In this section:

Usage scenarios for AFP jobs

These scenarios show the steps that a workflow might follow as it processes AFP jobs that contain documents.

Usage scenarios for PDF jobs

These scenarios show the steps that a workflow might follow as it processes PDF jobs.

Usage scenario for emailing documents to customers

In this scenario, a print shop wants to show customers who are receiving print statements that they can receive their statements as PDF files. The print shop changes the PDF workflow that prints customer statements so that, in addition to printing the statements, it sends all of them as PDF files to an email service provider. The service provider emails the statements to the customers.

Usage scenarios for pulling documents from a job

These scenarios show how you might offer new services to clients by extracting documents from a job and sending them through steps that provide special processing.

Parent topic: Document processing features